Looking Back

This past week...

We have new titles - geologists! Please ask your child about our interesting mineral investigations. There are more to come next week! Plus, there are songs, too! We'll learn them next week. We are now subject and predicate experts, as well. Just give your child a sentence and they will tell you the subject and the predicate. The children wrote wonderful cinquains about swimming. We read an interesting biography about Amy Van Dyken.

Please note that students go to Spanish each Tuesday. Please ask your child about their homework each Tuesday. It will be written in their agenda and is due back the next Tuesday.

Looking Ahead

Next week...
